

■ FOR SUBCONTRACTORS / FORWARDED BY YOUR PRIME CONTRACTOR

YOUR CLIENT NEEDS COR, ISNETWORLD, AVETTA OR COMPLYWORKS

HERE IS HOW TO GET THERE

Owners and prime contractors ask subcontractors to prove a working safety program before they start: a Certificate of Recognition (COR or SECOR), an approved prequalification account, or both. Here is what each one is and how to get approved.

CERTIFICATE OF RECOGNITION COR OR SECOR

A safety program that passes an external audit. In Alberta, construction usually certifies through ACSA and energy services through Energy Safety Canada. 10 or fewer workers: SECOR.

CONTRACTOR PREQUALIFICATION PLATFORM ISNETWORLD

A subscription, a company questionnaire, your safety program reviewed against each client's requirements, insurance and injury statistics.

CONTRACTOR PREQUALIFICATION PLATFORM AVETTA

A subscription, a prequalification questionnaire, safety program documents, insurance and WCB records, plus each hiring client's own requirements.

CONTRACTOR COMPLIANCE PLATFORM COMPLYWORKS

A subscription, company and safety documents, WCB clearance, insurance certificates and each hiring client's questionnaires, renewed as they expire.

- 1 Ask which one, and by when. Confirm which certificate or platform your client needs and your approval deadline.
- 2 Get a written safety program. Every route starts with a safety manual that fits your work.
- 3 Use it and keep records. Inspections, toolbox talks, hazard assessments and training records are what reviewers check.
- 4 Certify or register. Book the COR or SECOR audit, or open the platform account and upload your documents.
- 5 Keep it current. Maintenance audits and renewal dates keep you on the approved list.
